

Canadian Charter of Rights Gift to Students

These are images of gifts that I got for each student in my history classes during my first practicum, with special Arabic copies for my Syrian refugee students. I included this as it demonstrates my commitment to building relationships, and being culturally relevant. A professional growth target would be to get the Arabic copies printed with the English on the other side.

Placeholder Image